AST THE CIRCULATION OF THE DISPATCH EDUCATION.—MRS. M. C. RICE designs resuming her scholastic duties on the 1st. SEPTEMBER at 508 NORTH SECOND STREET, between Clay and Leigh. She has had much experience, and has the highest written recommendations in regard to tuition and discipline by those who often visited the school besides assisting in the examinations. Parents and others being present, the nuplis were questioned on whatever studies they had pursued, to the great enjoyment of parents and all present, giving perfect satisfaction. Late Rev. Jacob D. Mitchell. D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Lynchburg, Va., often visited the school and after the conclusion of examination remarked to her that the pupils had acquitted themselves finely, reflecting great credit on themselves and teacher, making it manifest that they had been thoroughly taught and well drilled in whatever study pursued. She endeavors to pursue the same cour e now, teaching them to understand thoroughly any and every word or study, principally by derivation. Thorough from rudiments to high branches, inclusive. Parents will please visit the school often, and deelde for themselves. Education is the best investment parents can make for their children—far more durable than gold and silver, which the children can soon squander. Terms moderate. Strict attention to morals and health. Discipline positively parents!. PAPERS OF THE CITY. [Entered at the Post Office at Richmond, Va., as

AN APPEAL TO ENGLISHMEN FROM THE MEMPHIS ENGLISH RELIEF SOCIETY .- Mr. Marshall, British Vice-Consul here, has reeived from the English Relief Society of Memphis an appeal addressed to all Englishmen on this continent or elsewhere for assistance in their direful calamity, and that funds when received beapplied to the relief of their brethren in need, to the payment of doctors and nurses of those taken sick, and to the proper and decent burial of the dead and such further relief as the families of the English residents in that unfortunate city may require. The officers of the Society are James B. Cook, president; B. P. Robson, vice-president; Sidney Cook, treasurer; John Higgin, secretary. In their appeal they say:

Hardly had the recollection of last year's pidemic passed away, with all its pain and sorrow to our people, when again, in the middle of July, this the following year, the alarm is sounded that the foul breath of the pestilential monster hovers over the city. Panic-stricken, those that have been able have gone to healthier places, leaving the poor and penniless to their fate. Among the latter are a large proportion of Englishmen, mechanics, clerks, and laborers, hard-working men with their families, whose weekly wages have been in the best of times barely sufficient to keep them in world. They seldom appeal for assistance, preferring to earn their living by the honest sweat of their brow; but in the present They respectfully solicit the patronage of their friends and the public generally.
